

Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition

Dear potential Coalition member,

Thank you for your interest in the Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition.

TWHC is a nonpartisan organization dedicated to improving the health and well-being of women, babies, and families by ensuring access to preventive care – including contraception – for all Texas women.

Our membership is made up of passionate healthcare, provider, advocacy, and faith-based organizations from across the state, all uniquely experienced, and dedicated to improving the healthcare safety net for Texas women. Access to preventive and preconception care—including contraception and health screenings—means healthy, planned pregnancies and early detection of cancers and other treatable conditions.

About our work

*In 2011, the women's healthcare safety net was severely damaged by funding cuts. In response, TWHC successfully advocated to restore and increase funding during the 2013, 2015, and 2017 legislative sessions. While we were successful in the mission of helping more women gain access to care, there's still room for improvement. Nearly 1.8 million Texas women are in need of publicly supported preventive healthcare and providers capacity to meet the need for services remains uncertain

Membership Benefits

As a Coalition member you'll receive our monthly e-newsletter, updates on developments in women's preventive healthcare, information on TWHC advocacy opportunities, alerts about upcoming events and voting privileges. Full Coalition meetings are held quarterly in Austin during the legislative interim and representatives from the Health and Human Services Commission, and other organizations, often provide presentations for attendees. Travel funding is available to Coalition members to help defray travel costs, and meetings may also be attended via our conference line.

Attached to this letter are background materials and a membership form. If your organization agrees with our Coalition Principles, please consider applying to join us in our efforts to promote access to preventive healthcare for all Texas women.

If you have any questions, please contact Info@TexasWHC.org for additional information.

Sincerely,

Evelyn Delgado

Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition

Coalition Objectives

Nearly 1.8 million Texas women are in need of preventative healthcare and access to contraception.

Access to preventive healthcare leads to fewer unplanned pregnancies, lowers the risk of child abuse and neglect, increases rates of early prenatal care, and reduces Medicaid costs. By becoming a member of the Texas Women's healthcare Coalition, you can help improve healthcare for women across the state.

Our objectives include:

- Increasing funding for women's preventive healthcare, including contraception, to fully meet the growing need among low-income uninsured women;
- Ensuring Texas has a strong provider network with the capacity to serve all women in need of preventive healthcare services;
- Supporting innovative new healthcare policies that benefit the health of Texas' women and families.

How does TWHC achieve its goals?

- Collaborating with Coalition members and community stakeholders to identify challenges and policy solutions for increasing access to preventive health care for Texas women;
- Consulting with and advising state agency leaders to improve the ability of the state's women's health programs to serve women in need;
- Advocating at the state Capitol, working with legislators, and mobilizing statewide support to increase access to women's preventive healthcare in Texas.

Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition

Coalition Principles

Approved October 5, 2016

The Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition (TWHC) is committed to the following Principles in our work to improve access to preventive healthcare for Texas women:

1. Improving access to women's preventive healthcare will improve maternal and child health; empower women to take personal responsibility for their health and their future; and reduce costs to the state.
2. Funding for Texas women's health programs should maximize services and achieve universal access to family planning services in the state.
3. Texas should adopt program rules and policies that ensure ample program funding and broad availability of actively participating providers.
4. Preventive healthcare services should include health history; contraceptive care; appropriate screenings (e.g., for breast and cervical cancer, sexually transmitted infections, depression, intimate partner violence, hypertension, diabetes, obesity, tobacco use, and alcohol misuse); access to long-acting reversible contraceptives (LARC); and preconception care (including counseling on establishing a reproductive life plan and on folic acid intake to prevent neural tube defects). Preventive healthcare services should follow best practices for family planning as recommended by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
5. Education, counseling, and provision of the full range of Food and Drug Administration-approved contraceptive methods are essential components of women's preventive healthcare, allowing women to avoid unplanned pregnancy and to optimize their health prior to pregnancy. Planned pregnancies improve the health of children; adequate birth spacing lowers the risk of premature birth and low birth weight.
6. Texas should eliminate barriers that make access to preventive healthcare services – including contraception – more difficult for women and adolescents. These barriers include exemptions that would exclude or limit benefits for prescription contraceptive drugs and devices.

Decisions of the Steering Committee are ideally made by consensus. If a vote is needed, the Steering Committee will decide by a 4/5 vote. Each organization member of the Steering Committee has one vote, although member organizations are welcome to send more than one individual to participate in Steering Committee meetings.

In the case that a member organization objects to a new organization's inclusion in the Coalition, the Steering Committee will review the objection and use a simple majority to vote the organization in question in or out.

Steering Committee Chair

The Steering Committee chair is nominated and elected by the Steering Committee and must commit to serving in the role for at least one legislative session. The Steering Committee chair must have been an active Steering Committee member by attending at least 50 percent of Steering Committee or general Coalition meetings in the year prior to nomination.

Responsibilities of the Chair include:

- Calling meetings of the general membership and Steering Committee;
- Presiding over general membership and steering committee meetings; and
- Working with the Steering Committee, Coalition membership, and Coalition staff to ensure the successful implementation of decisions.

Staff

Currently, the Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition receives staff support from Healthy Futures of Texas. Coalition Decision-Making Process

Recognizing the importance of developing an inclusive and representative collective body, the Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition will make its best effort to solicit input from supporters and members to make strategic decisions about legislative and organizing initiatives.

Texas Women's Healthcare Coalition

Coalition Bylaws

Approved September 2016

Coalition Decision-Making Process

To the extent that it is possible, large-scale decisions will be discussed by participants at open quarterly Coalition meetings. Members and supporters will be given an opportunity to discuss and provide input into such decisions. All Coalition members (i.e. those organizations who have endorsed Coalition principles) will be allowed one vote to affect the outcome of the decision. The passage of a proposal will be determined by a two-thirds majority of those who choose to vote (e.g. if 18 out of 20 members vote, at least 12 must vote the same way).

Because we strive to be a statewide Coalition, we will work to accommodate those who cannot be physically present by providing call-in capabilities and the ability to submit votes by email. Specific instructions on how to vote via these avenues will be provided with each decision item.

Inevitably, there will be decisions and items that will only be addressed by the Coalition Steering Committee, such as those that are time sensitive or which concern the everyday workings of the Coalition. However, the goal will always be to solicit and include the will of the full Coalition in all decision-making processes, where appropriate.

Signing-On to Public Coalition Documents

The Coalition often provides comments on rules and policies impacting women's preventive healthcare. TWHC staff will strive to provide comments for members to review at least 24 hours in advance of their submission, and to provide as much additional time for review as circumstances allow. If Coalition staff does not receive any objection to the document, staff will assume members agree to have their organization included in the list of supporters.

Amending Coalition Bylaws

A general Coalition or Steering Committee member may propose to amend Coalition bylaws by submitting a request to the Steering Committee with at least a 30-day notice before voting.

Amending the bylaws will be determined by a 4/5 vote of the Steering Committee.
